Kansas Cirr, May 11.—The American Live Stock Commission Company, an association composed of many leading stockraisers of the West, formed for the purpose of selling their cattle at a minimum rate of commission, has begun business. Offices have been opened at Chicago and Kansas City, and branches in other cities over the States are soon to be established. The organization is the result of the idea which long prevailed among cattlemen that they can handle their stock more economically than commission men, who have no particular interest in the prices they obtain as long as they get their commission.

The Deadly Fire-damp. PITTSBURGH, May 11.—An explosion of tre-damp occurred in the Toms River coal freedamp occurred in the Toms River coal mines this morning, killing four Hungarians. The mines have been closed some time, and the gas accumulated in the deserted apartments. This morning four miners entered the pit to get tools, and carried lamps, and had hardly gotten well into the mine when the explosion followed. The miners were horribly mangled. The damage to the mine is very heavy.

THE CRUISER CHARLESTON HAS ANOTHER TRIAL.

he Attains a Speed of Eighteen and a Quarter Knots an Hour-Another Trial to Be Made Today.

By Telegraph to The Times.

SANTA BARBARA, May 11.—[By the Associated Press.] The craiser Charleston left port shortly after 8 o'clock this morning. Steaming south for 60 miles and turning north again, she went shead under a full head of Meam, making an average speed of 18½ knots, with a development of 500 horse-power and 107 revolutions of her engines. This record was maintained for a period of 17 minutes, and careful computation was made by the Government engineers and other naval officers on board. This is the first time that an official record has been taken of the craiser's speed in connection with her horse-power development and establishes the fact that as the ceived by Alexander Sullivan, Dr. O'Relity of Detroit, John O'Brien of New York and Patrick Egan were not handled properly, and that not more than three-fourths of it ever reached Ireland.

"If know," he said, "that at least $85,000 and it is not more than three-fourths of it ever reached Ireland.

"If know," he said, "that at least $85,000 and he followed and by certain Chicago persons. When I began to "call and turn" on them, they tried to scare me off, and finding that a failure they tried to bribe me. That would not work, and their next move was to introduce me to Le Caron, giving his name as Bench, in order that he might pump me and daminge me in any other way that he could. He got very little out of me, however, and that plan failed. I had been warned several times to get out of the country by friends, and was assured that.

"I MPE WAS IN DANGER, but up to last Saturday, however, I was not last Saturday. He shows the rest.

The Emperor Takes Sides with the Strikers--How American Ex-hibits at Paris Compare with Foreign.

BERLIN, May 11.—[Copyright, 1889, by the New York Associated Press.] The Samoan conference held a sitting today, beginning at 2:30 and concluding at 4:45 o'clock. In its report the Committee on Government of Samoa agreed upon a constitutional council, to be dominated by a ministry in which each treaty power shall have one representative. A difference has arisen over Germany's proposal that the powers appoint a premier, who shall be vested with the office for several years. The proposal appeared to imply that the German mominee should first hold, the office and be succeeded appeared to imply that the German nomines should first hold the office and be succeeded by an American and then by an English premier. The committee also disagreed as to the formation of a legislature.

The discussion of the conference had no definite result. Count Herbert Bismarck indicated that the premier project was of less importance than a proper constitutional council. The delegates discussed harmoniculy the details of consular regulations and the question of improvement of the harbor of Apia. The committee was instructed to resume consideration of the points in dispute.

The termination of the conference now seems remote, owing to the mass of details which the committee is ordered to report.

THE GREAT STRIKE.

The miners' strike is assuming great

The miners' strike is assuming great dimensions, there being fresh accessions to the strikers. It is now estimated that there are 100,000 hands out of work throughout the Rhenish Westphalia districts.

The Emperor returned to this city hurriedly on Wednesday to consult with Prince Bismarck, who presided at a special council. The Emperor is deeply concerned over the strike movements which are new pervading the country, and does not conceal his sympathy with the workmen, although he is determined to suppress disorder. After the Cabinet councils on Wednesday and Thursday, the Emperor approved a report advising that the influence of the Government be directed to induce the employers to come to terms with the men.

aritation in mining and in other ind tries is that the former is not associate with Socialists, while the latter are close related to them. The dread in Governme circles is the miners' societies. Aires Anarchist agents from the Charlero! Mons miners promise the Mochum and Es men assistance. The general attitude of strikers apart from their claims evol sympathy. Public opinion concerning the claims also sides with them. Since I the coal trade has been immensely proprous. The values of mining shares in rapidly risen, while the wages of the memain at an average of 2s 6d per day.

I studied meanwhile at medicine, and after a short time passed my examination. I soon found that the great Irish field was to be antered either at Chicago or New Yerk and after consulting my intimate friends, among whom was Dr. O'Reilly, so well thrown in St. Louis, made up my mind to go to Chicago. I did so, armed with the very lost letters of introduction a man ever had. I soon found myself prominent in Irish as well as other circles there."

He then went on to say that he soon discovered that large quantities of money received by Alexander Sullivan, Dr. O'Reility of Detroit, John O'Brien of New York and Patrick Egan were not handled properly, and then not more than three-fourths of it.

closes two truths concerning American growth. The classification in which these truths are apparent comprises everything in is that the American constructive sense is superior to the European, and the second, that the American decorative sense is inferior to the European. The American has surpassed the European. The American has surpassed the European. The American has surpassed the European in mechanism, but the sense of beauty is still duil in the national breast. American artisanship is more intelligent in the application of the means to the ends, and in directness of method and economy of labor, but is crude and almost illiterate in taste. In fine, the artisanship, generally considered, of every other country of magnitude puts us to shame. Rilminate from the American exhibit machinery, gold and silver smithing and the art of the lapidary and glassmaker, and there is no American decorative art remaining upon which one can linger with satisfaction.

W. F. COLLINS.

The Unspeakable Fiend Who Ravished His Own Child.

The preliminary examination of W. F. Collins, charged with the horrible crime of rape, committed upon his little daughter, was held at Santa Monica yesterday before Justice G. A. McElfresh. The girl is about 10 years old, and it is alleged that the crime was committed in Santa Monica, where the defendant, his wife and daughter the defendant, his wife and daughter all slept together.

The little girl was placed on the stand, and the narration of the circumstances in this revolting case were given in a straightforward manner. She said that the outrage at Santa Monica was not the first time that her father had so acted, but that he had before that in Los Angeles accomplished the same thing. She said that he had talked with her about the matter in a disgusting manner, the lanhe had talked with her about the matter in a disgusting manner, the language the little girl used not being fit for publication. Enough to say that she charged her father with educating her in the way of wickedness. She said that he warned her not to play with boys in the manner he described to her, but to come to him. That he would keep her from all harm which might come to her from permitting boys to take liberties with her. The child used child-like language in her recital of the actions of her father, and did not seem to understand the horrible nature of her story.

father, and did not seem to under-stand the horrible nature of her story. She described the events which she and her mother claims took place at Santa Monica, and here also a veil is drawn over the disgusting story. Collins was upon the stand, and says that the whole story is untrue, and is a scheme to get his child away from him. He says that the whole thing is a story concocted by his wife for that express purpose, and that he is innocent of the crime with which he is charged. is charged. The Court believed the evidence

RECKLESS REUNAULT.

He Is Held for Assault with Intent to Murder.

Benoir, or Jerry Reunault, who shot Sheriff Martin Aguirre while resisting arrest two weeks ago, was examined in Justice Savage's court yesterday on a charge of assault with intent to commit-murder. Justice P. E. King sat in place of Justice Savage, and conducted the examination. Reunault, it will be remembered, defied the majesty of the law, first by shooting at Constables Dawes and Brakesuhler when they attempted to arrest him on the charge of having committed rape upon old Mrs. Simmonds; second, by upon old Mrs. Simmonds; second, by resisting arrest at his house near Rosedale Cemetery, when reinforcements from the Sheriff's office had come to the assistance of the deputy constables. The story of the scrimmage and escape of the reckless Frenchman, and his subsequent capture in Mr. Brousseau's coal bin are fresh in the memories of newspaper readers.

The examination yesterday was upon the charge of shooting Sheriff Aguirre in the arm. Only a few witnesses were examined.

BLACKMAIL.

THE GAME WORKED ON A PRO-FESSIONAL MAN.

Male and Female Sharp Who Operate Together-A Fee of Game Pops Up Again.

Like all rapidly-growing places, Los Angeles is being overrun by a gang of professional blackmailers, both male and female, and, according to all accounts, the scoundrels are reaping a rich harvest. These thieves are among the smoothest workers in the business. and they are so careful in covering up their tracks that it is almost impossible for the law to get its grip on

One of the boldest cases that has ever been worked in the city is now in the hands of a detective firm, and is being looked up.

It seems that the scheme was worked by a man and woman who live in style in one of the most fashionable parts of the city, and are supposed to parts of the city, and are supposed to be wealthy. If the case is brought into the courts it is expected that a nest of rottenness such as is seldom uncovered will be brought to light.

A few weeks ago this precious pair got on the track of what they supposed to be a social scandal in the family of profinent church people. The pair hung about the residence of a professional gentleman who happens to have a female relative who is in the habit of visiting his office, and the blackmailers got it into their heads that she also visited his residence when his wife was out of town.

They watched his house several nights and days and could not catch her, for the reason that she did not visit the house. But they did not give up. They made up their minds to work a scheme on their victim at his office, so they watched the stairway until they saw the girl go up into his office, when they rushed up to his door and placed a light ladder up to the transom. They then crawled up and yelled at the pair.

and placed a light ladder up to the transom. They then crawled up and yelled at the pair.

The couple paid no attention to the blackmailers, who disappeared from the transom as soon as they had attracted the attention of the pair in the office. They took up their stand in the hallway and waited until the pair came out, when the man rushed up to the professional man, and told him that he wished to speak to him professionally. The gentleman, who is not acquainted with the dark ways of the blackmailer, did not know what to do, and went with him. As soon as the thief got his victim into a dark corner he blurted out:

"Well, I know all about it, and I guess you want me and my wife to been our mouths shut Now how.

"Well, I know all about it, and I guess you want me and my wife to keep our mouths shut. Now how much is our silence worth to you?"

The professional man, who is a good Christian, did not swear, but he felt inclined to do something desperate, and would probably have knocked the blackmailer down, but that individual is a large, powerful man, and the victim held his peace.

"Well," said the blackmailer, "iff you can't make up your mind I will have to think for you. Our silence is worth just $1000 to you, and I guess you had better give it to me as soon as you had better give it to me as soon as you father, and you know him better than I do, for he is a very near relation of your."

do, for he is a very near relation of jours."

The poor victim was so badly frightened that he went right back to his office and drew a check, payable to bearer, for $1000 and handed it to the blackmailer. This was the worst thing he could have done in more ways than one, as he has probably discovered by this time, for the blackmailers are still after the poor victim, and if he does not prosecute them the chances are that they will either run him out of the city or get every dollar he is worth. It is understood that he has teld the girl's father the whole story, and they together are determined to bring the pair of blackmailers to justice if possible.

This is only one case out of a days.

This is only one case out of a dozen that have been worked successfully in this city during the past few months, and it is about time for the authorities run these thieves out of town or or tun these thieves out of town or lodge them in jail where they belong.

Only a few weeks ago the old panel game was worked on a prominent lawyer who is the head of a large family.
A woman induced him to visit her rooms on the pretext that she wanted to consult him on professional matters and was too sick to go to his office. When he got comfortably seated in the room, the woman, who by the way is very pretty and stylish, suddenly became affectionate and just at the right moment a big burly man rushed into the room and wanted to know what the lawyer was doing, etc. The usual red light and all that kind of business was thrown in, when the outraged husband (?) pulled an ugly gun and threatened to kill them both. The lawyer, who is possessed of a cool head, argued the matter until he got the drop on the mater until he got the drop on the mater tuntil he got the drop on the mater into the happier man. rooms on the pretext that she wanted

What an Enterprising Neighborhood

The parties interested in the Westlake Park are evidently determined to get the place in condition so that it can be used during the coming sum-mer, and to that end they are bending $1000 Extorted—The Old Panel all their energies and bringing every possible pressure to bear. Pursuant to an agreement entered into at the meeting of the Park Commissioners Friday night, Mayor Hazard, Clerk Robinson and Commissioners Hutton, Bryant and Hubbell went out to the park yesterday afternoon to look over the ground and consider the feasibility of at once proceeding with the improvements suggested by Dr. Bryant. These gentlemen went over the ground thoroughly, and yesterday afternoon took out another large party, consisting of Messrs. McLain, Van Duzen, Bonsall, Frankenfield and Brown of the Council, Superintendent Legrand, Assistant City Surveyor Lowindes. Dr. Hagan and representatives of the press, when the subject was discussed in detail.

The work has now progressed to such an extent that the water can be turned into the lake, which will increase the area very considerably, but to do this it will be necessary for the city to have laid about 1000 feet of 10-inch pipe. Besides this, the Seventh-street front will have to be bulkheaded to prevent caving, the plan for which has been agreed upon. Then an outlet will have to be provided for the overflow. This work is the most urgent, and it is hoped to have the Council take the necessary steps to have it done at the meeting work is the most urgent, and it is hoped to have the Council take the necessary steps to have it done at the meeting tomorrow. The ground has also been prepared for the planting of trees, and during the coming week several thousand will be set out. The Superintendent of Parks has also been instructed to prepare plans for grass plots and flower beds, and these will be got under way just as soon as they are prepared, which will not be later than ten days. The excavating for the foundation for the boathouse has also been commenced, and this structure, together with the band stand, will be rushed to completion, and in less than two months there will be ample boating facilities provided. In addition to this, a number of other improvements have been designed, including a ministure waterfall on the north side of the park, where a natural waterfall of 25 feet will be arranged. The grading is also progressing satisfactorily, and even now it is possible to drive around the entire lake over a good road, but it will be perhaps three weeks yet before this will be the proper thing, from a pleasure standpoint. All of this work of course costs money, but the property-owners in the vicinity are contributing dollar for dollar with the city, besides which they are taking a personal interest in the success of the undertaking, all of which is having a wonderful effect in pushing the work. Dr. Bryant is giving the park his personal attention, spending most of his time on the ground.

The example of the people interested in the Westlake Park is also having its effect on the other parks, and it is more than probable that other sections will be coming to the front will be coming

FREDERICK GOODHUE.

The Letter Carrier Gets a Hung

Jury. The trial of Frederick Goodhue, exletter carrier of the Los Angeles postoffice, charged with stealing letters from the mails, was concluded yesterday. The jury, after being out three hours, could not agree and were discharged. The bail of the prisoner was reduced from $5000 to $2500.

Goodhue's defense was a singular one. He did not deny that he took the letters addressed to M. Dauphin from the pouches, but claimed that he had a right to do so; that he himself was trying to ascertain who the real thief was, who had been purloining letters before that. It came out in evidence that two of the letters found

VISITOR TO THE SANTA CLARA MINES REPORTS.

Says It Is a Hard Camp for Placer Miners-They Make from He Says It Is a Hard O $1 to $1.50 a Day - Misrepro sentation of a Gold Ledge.

E. J. Swan, the capitalist and mining man who returned from Lower California a few days ago, want down to examine what was claimed to be a very promising gold-bearing ledge near the Santa Clara placers. The ledge in question is located in the Alamo camp and near the somewhat famous Sanchez group of mines. It was represented to Mr. Swan before he went down that the ledge is five feet thick. He found it 12 inches thick at the surface and at the bottom of a 23-foot shaft it narrowed down to 10 inches. The owners of the claim—the Costillo Brothers—wanted $20,000 for a half-interest in the claim E. J. Swan, the capitalist and n

$20,000 for a half-interest in the claim at first, but after the investigation they were willing to take $8000 for the entire claim. Mr. Swan made them a very liberal offer to bond the mine—$1000 down, one-half of all taken out in 90 days, and their price at the end of that time if satisfactory, creeting a mill at his own arrange.

in 90 days, and their price at the end of that time if satisfactory, execting a mill at his own expense in the meantime. This offer they refused, and negotiations were broken off.

Mr. Swan brought back with him samples of quartz showing free gold in tempting particles. It is undoubtedly rich, and, taking the ledge as it runs, the ore would probably turn out from $100 to $200 a ton. The only trouble to be apprehended is that the ledge pinches out before attaining a great depth. The walls being of porphyry confirm this theory. In view of this Mr. Swan was not willing to take the chances of a purchase.

Concerning the placer camp Mr. Swan said: "There are about $500 people in camp. They are mostly Mexicans or Spanish, with a sprinkling of American miners who be appropriated in camp. They are mostly mexicans or Spanish, with a sprinkling of American miners who are 'dead broke' and can't get away. There is not a house in the place, the people living in tents and cabins. There is no stream of water, all that is available being found in pools and puddles. The miners dig down to hardpan, which fortunately is only two or three feet below the surface, and then they pack the dirt in a sack on their shoulders to the water, where they wash it out with an old fashioned pan. Everything is done in the most awkward and primitive manner, and a hardworking miner gets only about $1 or $1.50 a day. This satisfies some of the Mexicans, but an American will not stand it unless he is obliged to do so to live. It it were possible to so to live. Stephen Terry, a prominent lawyer of Hartford, Ct., vice-president of the League of American Wheelmen, is dead. He came to Pasadena on a Raymond excursion last month. He was in the best of health when he arrived in California, but he contracted a bad cold, which developed into pneumonia, dying in San Francisco.

The programmes of the State meet have been printed, and are now in the hands of every known wheelman on the Pacific Coast.

BITUMINOUS LIME ROCK.

The Santa Cruz Company Sues the Los Angeles Company.

A bill of complaint was filed in the United States Circuit Court yesterday y the Santa Cruz Bituminous Rock by the Santa Cruz Bituminous Rock Company vs. the Bituminous I lime Rock, Paving and Improvement Company vs. the Bituminous Lime Rock, Paving and Improvement Company vs. the Bituminous Lime Rock, Paving and Improvement Company in the proceedings:

They say that November 19, 1885, Austin Walrath of Nevada City, Cal., invented a method of treating bituminous sand or rock, calling it "Improvements in Paving, Roofing and Building Compounds;" that, before his invention, the present method of making bituminous rock was unknown. He applied for a patent November 19, 1885, and his application was granted June 1, 1886. In October, 1887, Walrath sold his patent to the Santa Cruz company, and it proceeded to utilize it in the manufacture of bituminous rock from the deposits of rock or sand discovered near Santa Cruz. The plaintiff company alleges that the Los Angeles company has been infringing upon its patent; that the process used by it is almost identical with that covered by the patent. The complaint particularizes, stating that the steam boiler and patent. southern district is in violation of its rights.

The plaintiff therefore prays that a writ of injunction be issued directing the defendant company not to use, or cause to be used, any process for treating bituminous sand or rock covered by the patent. It also prays that the defendant be required to account for and pay over to the plaintiff all profits that have been derived from the business; and also be required to pay all damages that the plaintiff company has incurred by reason of the alleged infringement.

Holdridga O. Collins, for many years a prominent member of the Chicago bar, has been compelled, on account of the ill health of Mrs. Collins, to permanently leave this city, take up his residence in Los Angeles, Cal., and open an office there for the practice of his profession. It affords us pleasure to be able to say to those with whom Mr. Collins has cast his lot, that he is a well-read, able lawyer, and a gentleman of the strictest integrity, with any amount of executive ability. Mr. Collins has for many years been one of the leading members of the Chicago Bar Association. In 1879 and 1880 he was its secretary; for five years a member of the Committee on Admissions; for three years a member of the board of managers. At the time of his leaving for Los Angeles he was a member of the Banquet Committee he took an active part in the management of the banquet given to Mr. Chief Justice Fuller. Mrs. Collins is well known in this State, being a daughter of Mr. Ballance of Peoria, one of the best-known ploneer real-estate lawyers in Illinois. We wish Mr. Collins prosperity in his new home, and hope the balmy air of the City by the Lake.

CRUEL INJUSTICE.

A couple of weeks ago, at San Bernardino, a woman shot a man dead. She gave, as a reason for the deed, a statement that the man had criminally assaulted her daughter—almost an infant. It has since been discovered that there was no truth whatever in the charge, and the woman has been held for wilful murder.

Again: A few days ago, a respect-able citizen of this city was arrested. at the instance of a woman, who charged that he had ravished her fiveyear-old daughter. The man was flung into jail and placed under $10,-Since then, the charge of 000 bonds. rape, and a subsequent one of inlecent exposure, have been dismissed and the man now stands charged with simple assault, which charge will, in all probability, also be dismissed as soon as the trial comes up. The worst, however, remains to be told. The dreadful charge drove the wife of the occused man insane. She is today a raving maniac, and the chances of her living long are very slim.

There is something radically wrong in a system which permits the heinous disgrace of so awful a charge as this to besmirch for life the characters of innocent men, on the mere assertion of a mistaken or spiteful woman. At this rate, no man's reputation is for a moment safe. What matters a denial, which is read by few and believed by less, after the damning charge has once been blazoned to the world? While innocence should at all times be protected, we must be careful that. in our anxiety to do our duty in this direction, we do not perpetrate cruel injustice, which cannot be repaired on this side of the grave.

FRENCH FINANCES.

It may be remembered that, a short time ago, at the time of the disastrous failure of the Paris copper syndicate, the French Minister of Finance sum moned all the heavy bankers and capi talists, and informed them that they must contribute liberally to put the Comptoir d'Escompte on its feet. The reason for this remarkable proceeding was not generally understood in this country, but the wisdom of the step may be well appreciated from the fol lowing summary of losses suffered by French financial institutions, published by the Boston Herald. It requires little reflection to see what general disaster would have followed the failure of the Comptoir d'Es compte:

Within the space of a fortnight the 160,000 shares of the Comptoir d'Escompte declined in value $210 each, making a total loss of $33,000,000. The capital, reserve and bonds of the Société des Metaux suffered a French decree.

Arizona comes to the front with another striking affray. This time it is a gang of bold highwaymen who attack a party of United States troops, escorting a pay wagon, and get away with considerable plunder.

Mansfield, O., is trying a new them in the sare of guards and puts them in the sare of guards and puts them in the sare of guards and puts the same of guards and gua Company has 225,000 shares, which dealined in value 280, or a total of 515,500,000. The aggregate losses represented by this shrinkage in value, all taking place within a very few days' time, was nearly $85,000,000. This coming very closely after the collapse of the Panama Canal Company, which represented a loss to the French people of nearly $280,000,000, was well calculated to cause grave apprehensions on the part of financiers.

Whaling, the lone Democratic statesman of the city government, and prospective Mayor of Los Angeles, electrified the citizens and illuminated the columns of an es-Los Angeles, electrified the citizens and illuminated the columns of an estemed contemporary with the sparkling, efflorescent scintillations of his redundant genius. In yesterday's Express, Mr. Whaling has a more than usually able communication, constructed after the highest order of architecture, giving the results of a visit to the Tenth-street school. The Express, recognizing the overweening importance of this jou d'esprit, has very properly built on Mr. Whaling's twenty-line communication a sevenline head. Not since the days of the early English dramatists has anything appeared in our literature entirely on a par with these Whaling letters. The public has got to look for them as an indispensable treat, the absence of which would make life a weary waste. We understand that Mr. Whaling's chances for the Democratic nomination to the Mayoralty are excellent. Unfortumately for the Republican party, we must admit that a nomination in his case, would be equivalent to an election. From the Mayoralty of Los Angeles to the Governorship of the State is but a step, comparatively speaking. And then—well, Cleveland and Hill may both slip up. As far as we can see, nothing stands between there is nothing to large for showing her powers, but proved herself or showing her powers, but proved itself thorogally as the programming the for showing her powers, but proved itself thorogally as the company contains as the understand that far her proved itself thorogally as the company contains such a such company contains such a such compa and Hill may both slip up. As far as we can see, nothing stands between M. Whaling and the Presidency of the United States but that gentleman's own innate modesty—and a failure to receive the nomination.

OUR OCEAN CARRYING TRADE.

The result of testimony given in San mittee taking evidence regarding ques tions of trade and transportation in connection with Canadian rail and ocean steam lines, goes to show that goods can be shipped from San Francisco to the East, by steamer to Vancouver, and thence by the Canadian Pacific, at somewhat lower rates than by the American lines. This is said to be owing to the subsidy which the Canadian Pacific receives. However, as a rule, American railways may be trusted to take care of themselves. line is in the ocean business. Our protective system takes no thought for thought they were in luck, a year or our foreign-carrying trade. Subsitwo ago, when the First-street paving dized competition, which is now was commenced, but now they are threatened on the Pacific, will, unless met, drive our steamers from the sea. is not only unpayed for a portion and divert much of the trade of the Orient and Oceanic from the United able. The deluge of talk turned loose on the community by the discussion of the question of liquor licenses has, it seems, withdrawn the attention of the City Council almost wholly from the matter of public improvements, and the issue of boads, which is a condition precedent to the work. It is unfortunate that this delay is forced upon us, because it takes time to get the preliminary steps in train so that we may begin the actual work. If the people are willing to bond the city, and we believe they are, it is time for the City Council to put the question in the shape of a special election.

The above might well be from Los Angeles paper, but it is not. It is from a recent issue of the Oakland Tribune, and shows that the citizens of the modern Athens have much the same trouble to contend with as we of the City of the Angels.

COL. WATTERSON, in the Louisville Courier-Journal, gives utterance to great truth in the following sentence and one with the importance of which we should seek to impress the youth of America, while we instil into their hearts the undying love of liberty.

He says: With the opulation o With the enormous admixture to our population of race from every quarter of the world, it will be found that the safety and permanency of the United States lies in sustaining an intensely American spirit in the bosoms of the people. Not a domineering or exclusive tendency by any means, but a broad, charitable disposition, placing always first, however, the institutions and ideas handed down by the founders of the Republic.

SENATOR PUGH does not approve of Government expenditure for the reclamation of arid lands. On the other hand, probably nine-tenths of the citizens of the United States are convinced that the Government could make no better use of its sur-plus than in the line of action indicated. Even as a direct financial investment, it would be a perfect bonanza, as land which is now valueles could, with water, be sold at a much higher price than is asked for ordinary Government land.

THE Pasadena Union states that it is not true that the cannery project for that city has fallen through, and the Star explains that the Pasadena public library is a private institution whose failure does not compromise the city. We are glad to note these remarks, and are always ready and pleased to record anything of an enouraging character relating to the Crown of the Valley.

MYSTERIOUS CASE.

Wealthy Young Man Charged with Killing His Uncle.

DENVER (Colo.), May 11.—|By the Associated Press.] A special from Burlington, a hamlet in the eastern portion of the State says: A preliminary examination in one of the most sensational murder cases in the history of the State is being conducted at this place. The story in brief is as fol-

Some months ago Henry Hatch, a propent citizen of New England, came to C rado and filed a preëmption claim near Burilington. He lived alone, and had made considerable improvements upon the ranch. On the evening of April 25th C. W. Hatch of Boston, who had been in California, arrived at Denver, stopped at a leading hotel, and on Friday left for Burlington to visit his uncle, Henry Hatch. While there he gave the old gentleman $50, and after concluding his visit, he returned to Denver Sunday morning. Monday he left for Omaha, from thence to Chicage and Goshen, Ind., and Birmingham, Mich. On Sunday morning, the day young Hatch returned to Denver, the body of his uncle was found in his cabin by a couple of children of a neighboring ranchman with his brains knocked out and the skull beaten to a jelly.

As no one was known to have visited the old gentleman except his nephew, suspiction pointed to him, and he was arrested at Birmingham and returned to Burlington yesterday morning, charged with the murder of his uncle. The preliminary examination began yesterday and will probably last several days. The defense is being conducted by Hon. C. S. Thomas of this city, A. J. Poppleton of Omaha and other prominent attorneys.

The Coroner's jury last night found a verdict that Henry Hatch came to his death by being pounded over the head with a blunt instrament in the hands of a party supposed to be C. W. Hatch. The accused is about 30 years of age and agent of the Travelers' Insurance Company of Hattford, Ct., for the New England Stage, and reported to have an annual income of $25,000, and is a nephew by marriage of Maj. NASHVILLE (Tenn.), May 11.—[By the Associated Press.] The American tomorrow will publish a long letter from Jeffer son Davis, written in reply to a request made by the editor for a statement of Gen. Wolseley's article in the North American Review for May, criticising Davis's course as President of the Confederacy. Mr. Davis refers to his reply to Wolseley's arti-cle of a year ago, in which Davis exposed the historical errors, etc. Davis says in me historical circus, etc. Davis says in part:

"In the article to which you now call my attention, the Adjutant-General of the British army, Viscount Wolseley, with increased yeaom renews his attack upon me, and opens it with the mean cover of a hypocritical pretension of sincerity. His arrogance heretofore exhibited was so extreme as to be harmless, and merely provoked contempt. Now, having learned that facts are needful to sustain allegations, he follows his deprecatory remarks concerning me by a libelous statement. Where, when on how did I ever express the opinion that 10,000 Enfield rifles would suffice for the Confederacy? Where, when or how did I then refuse to receive 386,000 men, offered for the Confederace service? Where, when or how was the East Indian fleet ever offered to me? What means were rejected by me when proposed by others for placing the finances of the Confederacy on a sound basis?"

Mr. Davis then refers to statements in several books published on the subject of the Confederacy and the reports of Confederate officials as a refutation of Woiseley's statement.

A Southerner Who Wants the Ne-ment entertain the proposition of the negro, or treat him untairly in respect to his rights of person or property, but all of us know and feel that it was a cruel piece of injustice to us to put the ballot in his hands in his present half-civilized state.

"All that is necessary is the repeal of the Fifteenth Amendment, and I believe there is a prospect of its repeal. The South has a large vote in the electoral college, and representatives in Congress are based on the negro as a voter. The Northerner thinks we don't let him vote as he wishes, and thus get an unfair voice in both those bodies.

AGAINST THE IMPORTERS. A Decision of Interest to New York

Importers.

NEW YORK, May 11.—[By the Associated ress.] Collector Ethart this afternoon decided a dispute of long standing between the New York customs authorities and the merchants. The decision involves nearly $1,500,000 annually, and is a result of several investigations. Invoices of manufactured worsted goods have been found by factured worsted goods have been found by the appraiser to contain large quantities of wool, and therefore have been appraised under section 363 of the tariff law, which calls for a duty of 25 cents per pound, and 35 per cent ad vaiorem on all woolen goods under the value of 80 cents per pound. The importers claimed that the goods contained only "combed" wool, and should come in under the section classifying "blankets, wool hats and all goods made in knitting frames," and calling, for a duty from 10 to 18 cents per pound on goods worth from 30 to 80 cents. Two invoices brought by the City of Paris and the Umbria form the basis of the decision, which is adverse to the importers. Collector Erhart notified the importers that they might appeal to the Secretary of the Treasury.

THE WIZARD'S WOES. How Edison Was Cinched in a Pho-

Edi-son, began a suit in equity signinst Efra Gil-liland of Boston and a lawyer named Tomlinson of this city, for the recovery of $250,000. According to the words of the complaint, Edison employed both Gilliland and Tomlinson last year to sell his rights in the phonograph. Those rights Mr. Edison estimated to be worth $1,000,000. It is alleged that through the representations of defendants he parted with these rights for $500,000. In what is termed an alleged "deal" with one Jessie Lippincott, defendants made $250.000. Tomlinson, at the time Edison took him into his confidence, was a lawyer with a very limited practice. Gilliland was also a lawyer, and has an annual income of about $5000 in Boston. Winter wheat of the Ohio Valley, while fully maintaining its April position, has had a scant supply of moisture, and fears of a future decline of conditions are entertained in case of continued decy of rainfall.

On the Atlantic slope recent neavy rains have obviated the effects of previous deficiency. The plant is generally green and flourishing, but has not filled well in localities inclining to dryness. A high condition is reported in the South, although rust has appeared on wheat-blades in some fields.

Percentages of condition of the States of principal production are: Ohio, 90; Michigan, 92; Indiana, 95; Illinois, 98; Missouri, 98; Kansaa, 98; Texas, 88.

In East New York and Pennsylvania the average is 96; Maryland and Virginia, 98. Chinch bugs are reported in Missouri and Kansas, and in some instances elsewhere, without any indication of serious injury.

Spring plowing is much further advanced than May 1st last year.

The weekly weather crop bulletin says: "The weather during the week generally throughout the Southern States and central valleys has been unfavorable to crops, owing to deficiency in rain. In the Northwest the general effect of the week was to improve crop conditions. This statement applies to Minnesotta, Dakota, Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas and Northwest. Missouri. Some replanting in this sections is necessary, owing to high winds, which uncovered and scattered the seeds. The weather was favorable for corn-planting throughout the corn belt, Dakota reporting an unusually large acreage, and planting well advanced. The condition of the fruit crop is encouraging in all sections."

LEO'S LITTLE GAME.

HE HAD A FEW ACES UP HIS SLEEVE AND WON.

A Gentle Game of Poker and Its Result-A Brand New Deck of Cards-"The Kicker Grabbed His Arm and Held It Up"-Leo May Have to Leave the City.

When young men go to gambling and find that they cannot win by fair means, they are apt to pick up a few bungling card tricks and work them off with more or less success on greenhorns but it is seldom that they gather up courage enough to attempt to work their sleight-of-hand business on their friends. There is a young man of this type in Los Angeles, however, and he has made himself most thoroughly disliked during the past thoroughly disliked during the past few days.

As the story goes, a few nights ago he invited some of his young friends to join him at a game of poker. All of them are bloods of the two-bit order, and for that reason there were not more than a few million dollars in the game. A bran new deck of cards was opened, and the game was called. For the first few hands betting was rather tame, and the pot was pulled down on very small pairs. On the fourth hand the proposer of the game, who shall be called Leobecause that is not his name, got in his deadly work with three aces. The next hand he held two aces and a pair of queens. The invited guests thought nothing of Leo's good playing until ten or twelve games had been played, and it was noticed in almost every instance that Leo held aces and raked in the pot. He was about $18 ahead of the game when one of the guests in the pot. He was about $18 ahead of the game when one of the guests suddenly ejaculated:

"This thing is going too d—d far. Leo never won a dollar before, and I notice that he is playing aces on us every time. Now, gentlemen, this is not luck, as any one who knows anything about poker will tell you, and I move that we have an investigation right here."

Leo turned pale, and made a move as if to shift something from his coat sleeve to the deck of cards, but the player who had made the "kick" was player who had made the "kick" was too quick for him, and before poor Leo knew what was up, the kicker had grabbed his arm and held it up in plain view of the audience.

"Now, gentleman," said the kicker, "I will show you how our nice friend has won our money," and without further preliminaries the protester pulled two aces out of poor Leo's coat sleeve.
"Look at him gentlemen and tell me

two aces out of poor Leo's coat sleeve. "Look at him, gentlemen, and tell me whether we can afford to associate with a man who will rob his friends in such a cold-blooded manner."

The boys expressed their disgust in the most approved style and marched out of the room. Poor Leo was heartbroken, but he did not go off and commit suicide, as some young men would have done. He simply walked down to a restaurant and spent $2 of his ill-gotten gains on a good dinner.

The story has spread among the bloods, and not one of them will have anything to do with Leo. They are even talking about him to his lady friends, and it is believed that they will make it so warm for him that he will have to leave the city.

QUEER MEETING Of a Couple of Tramp Brothers at

A rather queer meeting took place in the County Jail Thursday evening. A man named Jacksen, alias Ohio Brown

He was a little box—not the aristo-leave the same of warm of the warm of the same of the sam Six Bits.

He was a little boy—not the aristocratic little boy spoken of in Iolanthe, but just a pigmy of a newsboy and match peddler grown in Los Angeles. He was an Angeleño all through. He went through the boom excitement and "caught on." He knew the tricks that he saw played, and all in all he belonged to the ramshackle gang that infests the corners along Main and Spring streets. Robert Mackay was his name and this is what he did yesterday:

Bobby had a small flour sack with about a dozen-boxes of matches in it in his hand. His face was dirty and his eyès were blue and large. With a sneaking gait he wandered along toward Upper Main street. He bowed his head and casually glanced at the louses that he passed. Coming to a large residence opposite the West-minster Hotel Bobby tried the gate and walked to the center of the front garden. As soon as the new arrival was turned into the tank Ohio Brown walked up and asked him where he came from. Thompson replied from San Francisco, when Brown told him he knew better—that he was firom Ohio and that he was his brother. It was now Thompson's turn to be surprised, but a few seconds' conversation straightened matters out, and mutual explanations followed. The elder brother was discharged, he went out and got his brother a good breakfas until the younger one serves his time, when the two will start back home by freight train and on foot, as circumstances materialize.

SUMMER SIGHS, CUPID'S AR ROWS, PRETTY DRESSES.

The Latest Fashion Touches in San Francisco - "Lou's" Observa tions -- The Cutest Design Yet for a Morning Dress-A Veritable Butterfly Robe.

SAN 'FRANCISCO, May 4.—[Correspondence of The Times.] Summer with its heat and dust, its roses and clear weather, will soon be here with its advent come the holidays, idle days so dear to all the tired-of-town people who are heartily glad to shake the city dust off their shoes and get out days so dear to all the tired-of into the country with its fresh air and frolic, its moonlight nights and joyous

Already the thrifty matrons and maidens are preparing their summer wardrobes, and shall we take a peep at what they are making to wear by the seaside or up in the mountains?

Here, first of all, because of its serviceability and general all-round usefulness, is a dark sateen with clusters of gay flowers spread over it in careless confusion, and the slender maiden is making hers with an Empire waist and gracefully draped skirt, while her more generously endowed sister has selected a Directoire coat with pleated skirt, velvet being used for the trimming in both instances, although one talented girl with original ideas has made her Directoire with a vest and revers of white pique.

print with original ideas has made her Directoire with a vest and revers of white pique.

Next comes a pretty chalife, as pretty and deceptive as the girl who is to wear it, for though it looks so light and airy, it is in reality of good, firm texture, and being all of wool, it is very comfortable on those breezy days that so often come in between the torrid ones of midsummer.

This dainty model is of cream and pink, made with Empire waist cut V shaped and crossed surplice fashion in tront. The yoke is of pink surah sating athered into a band at the neck, and around the waist there is a long surah sash, which is tied at the back and falls in leng, fringed ends nearly to the hem of the pleated skirt.

For afternoon wear there is a soft Bengaline which is such a comfort, because it does not rumple. This is made with short basque and draped skirt. The basque has shirred pleeces brenght from the shoulder to the waist and the narrow revers and vests are of veret; ribbon covers the edge of the basque;

The basque has shirred pieces brought from the shoulder to the waist and the narrow revers and vests are of veivel; ribbon covers the edge of the basque and is tied in long loops and ends at the left side; the sleeve is made Hading fashion, gathered into the arm's eye and the extra fullness formed into three downward turning pleats.

For the morning there are some light ginghams and batistes made with full sleeves. This is usually pleated in fine pleats from the neck to a line just above the bust, where the fullness remains unconfined until gathered into the belt or sash at the waist.

The cutest design for a morning dress was modeled from one of Mrs. Annis Jenness Miller's artistic patterns. It was of striped gingham and was entirely devoid of skirt extenders of any description. The back broadths were pleated into a short waist which ered the back only, being curved innered directly under the bust, the ion series of torquoise blue, made all in one, with yoke, baby waist and plain tight skirt, finished with some tucks and a tiny ruffle, from beneath which the timer feet, "like little mice, stole in and out."

And what is my lady to wear when she goes yachting? Ah! here is a Frenchy dress, quite "chic" and charming. It is of red and black striped flannel, and is made with accordion-pleated skirt with loose shirt of white flannel projecting from below a jaunty jacket of the striped material.

And here is a bright-eyed damsel, who is evidently bent on winning hearts if not games of tennis this year, for what male man could resist a pretty girl in such a pretty dress as pretty girl in such a pretty dress as this of tan-colored cashmere, with woven border of pale blue satin. The skirt is, as usual, made with accordion pleats, and is ornamented with a thick cord and tassel of blue silk, which passes around the hips and is knotted carelessly in front. The tennis shirt is laced with a blue cord, and the sweet little cutaway jacket is lined throughout with pale blue surah satin. There, isn't that pretty enough to win the heart of the toughest and crustiest of old bachelors?

And what a charming picture her equally pretty younger sister is going to make when she dons her outling costume of pure white flannel, made in a combination of Directoire, sailor waist and La Tosca styles. The back is La Tosca, the skirt breadths being gathered all around into the basque back; the jacket fronts have Directoire revers, and the underwaist is sailor style. And here let me tell you, ladies, that a summer outfit is scarcely complete without a dress of white flannel or cashmere, made up in some simple style, some of the prettiest being combined with rose color or seafoam green. of old bachelors?

From white to black is rather a sudden transition, but it must be made for the benefit of those who seldom wear anything but black.

A very unique evening dress, copied from one of Worth's designs, is of black Brussels net with a border of narrow green ribbon. The net is draped over a black silk skirt with a ruching of apple green at the foot. The waist of net is decolletee, and is finished with a soft puffing of green, the quaint demi-sleeves being also of green.

Another dress of net, a veritable butterfly robe, was made with an unhemmed ballet skirt laid over an underskirt of orange satin. Little clusters of orange satin ribbons catch the skirt in odd places, and are perched on the shoulders and at the bust, where the pleats of net cross in surplice fashion, the belt being of gold filagree work. work.

So you men with vulnerable hearts So you men with vulnerable hearts beware, for, from a passing glimpse of all these charming costumes, it is evident that both maids and matrons intend to look their very prettiest during the happy season of moonlight, music, love and flowers, and, unless you are very skillful in warning off Cupid's arrows, not a few of you will be caught in the snare of pretty girl in a pretty dress, than which nothing is prettiar.

evening the Board of Trade and a large number of citizens enjoyed a good social time at a banquet at the Painter Hotel in the evening. Wine was placed on the table, for those who wished it, but, considering that this is a temperance community, and the invitation was general, only a few cared to tipple the roseate liquid. Among the citizens gathered around the festive board were two ministers of the gospel, both of whom, being socially good fellows, were therefore compelled to respond to the toasts. Everything passed off very harmoniously and at 11 o'clock the quiet assemblage scattered to their homes. Pimple on Him.

I cannot say enough in praise of the CUTI-CURA REMEDIES. My boy, when one year of age, was s bad with eczems that he lost all of his hair. His scalp was covered with eruptions, which the doctor said was scald head, and that his hair would never grow again. Despairing of a cure from physicians, I began the use of the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and, I am happy to say, with the most perfect success. His hair is now spiendid, and there is not a pimple on him. I recommend the CUTICURA REMEDIES to mothers as the most speedy. economical and sure cure for all skin diseases of infants and children, and feel that every mother who has an affilieded child will thank me for so doing. Severe Scalp Disease Cured.

A few weeks ago my wife suffered very much from a cutaneous disease of the scalp, and received no relief from the various remedies she used until she tried Curucura. The disease promptly yielded to this treatment, rund in a short while she was entirely well. There has been no return of the disease, and Curucura ranks No. In our estimation for diseases of the skin.

DAILY REMINDER OF NOTABLE EVENTS OF THE PAST.

Jackson-Calhoun Rupture-Charles O'Connor-The Grand Alliance Against France-"I Propose to Fight It Out on This Line if It Takes All Summer."

On May 12, 1830, President Jackson addressed a letter to Vice-President John C. Calhoun, inclosing another from William H. Crawford of Georgia, from William H. Crawford of Georgia, in which Calhoun was charged with recommending the arrest and punish-ment of Jackson for his alleged mis-conduct in the Seminole troubles in 1818 Calhoun and Crawford at that time being members of Monroe's Cabinet. Jackson demanded an explanation of this strange revelation, as he had always supposed that Calhoun was his friend. The ambitious South Carolinian aspired to the Presidency, which he could not reach without Jackson's friendly assistance. He therefore entered into a long explanation, in which he attempted to evade a direct admission of the charge and palliate his position in the Seminole debate. But Jackson would have none of it, and Crawford's letter made them enemies forever. Early in 1828, Alexander Hamilton's son, J. A. Hamilton, sought out Crawford, to procure his support of Jackson as President. He did not see Crawford, but met Gov. Forsyth instead, who soon after wrote him a letter, in which he stated that Jackson's enmity to Crawford had been groundless, as it was not Crawford, but Calhoun, who advised Jackson's arrest and punishment in 1818. In May of the same year, Maj. William B. Lewis of Nashville, a Jackson henchman, went to New York to see Hamilton, who showed him Forsyth's letter. Lewis craftily kept the matter to himself, wisely resolving not to promote discord while the Presidential canvass was pending. In November, 1829, Jackson entertained Monroe at a dinner, when one of the guests, alluding to the Seminole debate, declared that Monroe had stood by Jackson during the discussion. The talk was kept up after dinner by Lewis and Secretary Eaton, when in answer to Jackson's questions the whole story was related. The President promptly demanded the letter. Hamilton preferred that Forsyth should speak, and Forsyth referred the matter to Crawford, who would soon be in Washington as Senator from Georgia. At length Crawford and the letter arrived, and thus it was that Martin Van Buren and not Calhoun was Jackson's the whole story was related. The President promptly demanded the letter. Hamilton preferred that Forsyth should speak, and Forsyth referred the matter to Crawford, who would soon be in Washington as Senator from Georgia. At length Crawford and the letter arrived, and thus it was that Martin Van Jackson demanded an explanation of this strange revelation, as he had al-

THE ALLIANCE AGAINST FRANCE. On May 12, 1689, the first grand alliance of the powers against France was consummated. All the German was consummated. All the German princes joined it; the united provinces of Holland, England and Spain united for the restoration of the treaties of Westphalia and the Pyrenees. Europe had mistaken hopes of forcing Louis XIV. to give up his conquests: But 20 years of wars and reverses were not to suffice for that. The eight years' struggle which was terminated with the peace of Ryswyck left the French King in possession of all his previous conquests, and settled nothing but the establishment of the Protestant succession and the treatment of the English crown.

CHARLES O'CONNOR,

CHARLES O'CONNOR charles o'connor, the distinguished lawyer, who contributed so materially to the overthrow of the Tweed ring in New York city, died May 12, 1884, in his 81st year. His father was an Irish emigrant of good family and liberal education. Born in 1804, the early loss of his father's fortune compelled the future lawyer to give up a university his father's fortune compelled the future lawyer to give up a university education. Charles was admitted to the bar in 1824, and soon attained to eminence. He was counsel in the famous case of the slave Jack in 1835, the Lispenard, Parish and Jumel will cases and the Forrest divorce suit. President Pierce made him a Federal District Attorney. He was nominated by the labor reformers and dissatisfied Democrats for President in 1872, when he received 20,000 votes, which were purely complimentary, as he declined both nominations.

'I PROPOSE TO FIGHT IT OUT ON THIS LINE." Convinced that he could not hold his position at the Wilderness after the battles of May 5 and 6, 1864, Lee withdrew behind entrenchments. Grant determined to move upon Spottsylvania Courthouse, which Lee, anticipating, hastened to occupy and strengthen, thus blocking the road to Richmond. Hancock's corps crossed the river Po. and took up rectifions anticipating, hastened to occupy and strengthen, thus blocking the road to Richmond. Hancock's corps crossed the river Po and took up positions opposite Lee, so that everything was ready for battle on the 10th of May. The Federals assailed Lee's left center, posted on Laurel hill, which was surrounded by a dense growth of cedar. Hancock was twice repulsed at this point, and the third attempt was made at 5 o'clock in the afternoon with even greater loss. When the fourth attempt had been repelled an hour later, the attempt to break the line at this point was abandoned. The two last attacks cost Hancock 6000 men. To the left of this point, however, the Confederate line was carried, and 900 prisoners taken. In the evening Grant wrote his famous dispatch to the Secretary of War: "We have just concluded six days' hard fighting, which is much in our favor; our loss has been heavy, but that of the enemy has been greater; we have taken many prisoners, while the enemy have captured only a few stragglers. I propose to fight it out on this line if it takes all summer." The 11th was spent in preparations for the final struggles for the 12th, when Lee's right-center, which appeared most vulnerable, was to be assailed. The night was dark and stormy, and at midnight Grant began to move. At 4 in the morning, the Federals burst through Lee's first line of intrenchments, and pushed forward to the second line, but having lost their organization were pushed back; being reinforced, however, they succeeded in holding the first line. Lee made five assaults to dislodge Hancock from this point, but was repelled with heavy loss, and at night Lee retired to his second line. Such was the battle of Spottsylvania Courthouse, and Grant's loss in the seven days' desperate fighting aggregated nearly 30,000 men.

J. M. Skinner and John Lazzarovich were arraigned in Justice Savage's court yesterday on a charge of malicious injury to a freehold. They pleaded not guilty, and their trial was set for May 20th. They were released upon their own recognizance.

The Partist print of Seate Monico

The Baptist picnic at Santa Monica yesterday was largely attended and greatly enjoyed. It was a delightful day for a picnic, and the occasion will long be remembered by those who participated. The excursion was made over the new Los Angeles and Pacific line.

Last night about 11:30 o'clock a man and woman, driving down Main street in a buggy, were thrown out by the vehicle catching on the street-car track. They were taken into Laux's drug store, where their injuries were at-tended to, after which they were sent home.

The Cahuenga Valley Railroad case was set for argument before Judge Clark yesterday, but on account of another case being on trial, was continued to some day not named. This is the case in which the citizens on West Temple street are seeking to have that portion of the road within the city limits declared a nuisance.

Explain Officer Levye, Company has the city limits declared a nuisance.

Ex-Police Officer Jerry Comocy, has secured a decree in his suit for divorce against his wife. The trial was a particularly salacious one, and there was a great deal of filth brought out. Comocy was the plaintiff in the case, and he claims that the dirty stories were circulated by his wife and her family to prejudice the case against him.

The proposed reorganization of the police force is still all the talk in official circles, and is having quite a demoralizing effect. The three members of the majority of the commission positively deny that anything of the kind is contemplated, but several policicians and others interested claim as strongly that they have seen the list, and that it contains about 30 names.

Changer R. Fuller a creak was strongly that they have seen the list, and that it contains about 30 names.

Chauncey B. Fuller, a crank, was committed to Stockton yesterday by the commissioners in lunacy in Judge Shaw's court. Fuller is a melancholy crank. He broods over imaginary wrongs, and has but few words for any one. He wandered away from the County Hospital not long ago, and is very much afraid of going back there, believing that if he does they will cut off his legs and arms, and carve him to pieces little by little.

In the matter of the discharge of Solomon Troutwine by Justice Lockwood on Thursday last, on the charge of distributing boycott circulars in front of Brown's bakery, Assistant District Attorney Hardesty, who had charge of the prosecution, denies that the discharge was granted owing to a mistake in the complaint. He says the prosecution had no case, and it was therefore useless for him to be present when the case came up.

An order was granted by Judge Yan child pending the divorce proceedings between Mr. and Mrs. Parcels. The order was upon a habeas corpus petition, and the plaintiff, Mrs. Parcels, was granted the custody of the child, a boy about 5 years old. Upon the condition, however, that it is not to be taken from the city, and that the defendant have the privilege of visiting the child at all reasonable hours.

Brune Goetatowiki, the plants, tave a most delightful reception at his parlors, on Olive street, recently. The musical part of the evening opened with Spontini's great "Overturs to Ferdinand Cortez," played on two plancs in a most magnificent style by Mrs. G. Taylor Stewart, Mrs. M. Lewis and Mr. Goetatowski. Mrs. Lewis and Miss Maude Rowan played some selos during the evening, and did wonderfully well. Miss Adele Stoneman sang, by especial invitation of Mr. Goetatowski, and, with his accompaniment, rendered a most charming number of songs, after which Mrs. Goetatowski finished the musical part of the evening with a number of solp pieces, "Earl King," by Liszt: "Romance," by Chopin; and "Etude," by Rubinstein. The playing that evening was especially grand, the entire audience being thoroughly enraptured by the delightful music. Expecially was the "Earl King" executed with dramatic power, and it was heartily applauded for its tenderness and thorough execution. The decorations were of extreme beauty. The dining-room especially was a masterpiece of audience being thoroughly enraptured by the delightful music. Especially was the "Earl King" executed with dramatic power, and it was heartily applauded for its tenderness and thorough execution. The decorations were of extreme beauty. The diningroom especially was a masterpiece of the florist's art. After an elaborate supper, the party greatly enjoyed dancing, which lasted until long after the "very small hours." Among those present were Mrs. E. B. Crocker, Mrs. Gen. Stoneman, Mr. and Mrs. Meyer Lewis, Dr. and Mrs. Stewart, Mrs. Bender, Miss Adele Stoneman, Miss Bradbury, Miss O'Connor, Miss Rowan, Miss Cover, Col. Volkmar, W. E. Jones, T. J. Fleming, W. A PIANO MUSICALE.

An informal piano musicale was given Thursday evening in Bartlett's Music Thursday evening in Bartlett's Music Hall. The playing was far above the average, and the audience, who numbered among some of our best known music lovers, were highly entertained and were very lavish in their applause. These musicales are becoming very popular, and are always looked forward to with pleasure by those who are fortunate enough to be on the list. The following programme was carried out:

San Buenaventura Social Notes. Marrying and giving in marriage is all the rage with Ventura young peo-ple this spring, no less than seven pie this spring, ho less than seven weddings having occurred or are amounced for the near future. The latest was the marriage, on Tuesday last, of Mr. F. J. Sifford, a well-known and popular young business man, to Miss Cora Bonestel, daughter of C. D. Bonestel, Esq., at the home of the bride, on Meta street. Only the families of the contracting parties were present. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Sifford departed for the South; where they will spend their honeymoon, their headquarters being the Del Coronado. Both the bride and groom have lived here since childhood, and their large circle of friends unite in wishing them all happiness and prosperity.

Other weddings are announced for the near future, and if all transpire acthe near future, and if all transpire according to the arranged plan, two more of Ventura's young society people will today start upon a life of conjugal happiness. Another prominent young business man is having a lovely home built upon the avenue, and old Dame Rumor has it that early in June he will lead to the altar one or Oakland's charming daughters. Whether this boom in the matrimonial market will continue this reporter is unable to say. Miss Mamie Short and Miss Mabel Astbury entertained a large audience at the Congregational Church on Thursday evening with recitations and banjo selections. The young ladies possess rare abilities in their lines, and received a warm reception.

The Congregationalists are casting about to find a pastor for their church, recently made vacant by the resignation of Dr. Murphy. In the meantime Rev. AN ANGELENYO ON HIS TRAV-ELS. Old Town," Carlsbad, San Luis Rey, Oceanside, Ramona, Murietta, Wildomar and the Ghosts of Some Departed Towns-San Bernardino.

SAN BERNARDINO, May 7.—[Correspondence of THE TIMES.] Three and one-half miles north of San Diego lies the sleepy pueblo, "Old Town," its former importance departed, interest-ing, chiefly, on account of its quaintness and of the Government school fo Indian children, in charge of the Sisters of St. Joseph, which is located here. It is probable, however, that this school will be moved to the vicinity of the Old Mission, six miles up the this school will be moved to the vicinity of the Old Mission, six miles up the valley, where more roomy quarters can be had, and an opportunity to train the boys to habits of industry.

By 1:50 p.m. your correspondent was ready to take the Oceanside express, which pulled in on time, and he was soon on the rail again, headed toward San Bernardino. Several embryotic towns, relics of the late boom, were passed; but little of interest until Carlsbad was reached at 4:30 p.m., 39 miles from San Diego, where he resolved to stop over for the purpose of visiting a former pupil of his, Mr. B. F. Griffin, secretary of the Land and Water Company. Carlsbad is a charming little town, built principally in a small valley, separated from the beach by a low ridge, which shelters it from the ocean breeze. This place is already becoming favorably known for its health-giving mineral waters and its fine beach. A good hotel building is about completed, at a cost of some $40,000, and will be open in time for the bathing season.

It is expected that this place will become a favorite winter resort, and several good residences are already built and occupied, some of them having cost from $15,000 to $20,000. There is a fine body of land back of town, which will become very valuable as soon as the contemplated development of the waters of the San Luis Rey River is accomplished.

The Atlantic express from San Diego arrived on time the next morning at 8:53 o'clock, but your correspondent

River is accomplished.

The Atlantic express from San Diego arrived on time the next morning at 8:53 o'clock, but your correspondent was compelled to lay over again at Oceanside as there is no Sunday train on this line to San Bernardino. He made excellent use of the delay, however, as it gave him an opportunity of visiting friends at San Luis Rey Mission, four or five miles distant, whom he had not seen for several years, and also of renewing acquaintance with the old mission itself, which was originally one of the most extensive and important on the coast, and whose ruins still show many traces of their former magnificence. It is a pity that some way cannot be found to prevent these historical monuments from going to decay. Were this mission, or the buildings rather, restored to its original proportions and thoroughly renovated, the money expended would be well invested, and our children's children would have cause to be grateful to those who would thus preserve for coming generations one of the most beautiful or those fast disappearing relics of a former civilization. Without those missions and the lessons they teach, little would remain to us of the perhaps most interesting portion of our history.

A Warm Day at Key West.

[From the St Louis Globe Democrat.]

"The hottest day I ever experienced," said Paul Mercier, "was during the summer of 1859, while aboard a ship at Key West. Fla. The sun beamed down upon the deck of the vessel, and seemed to be so close that it would almost raise blisters. The fires had gone out in the kitchen, and, as I was hungry, I procured several fresh eggs, and put them on the deck. The deck was covered with pitch, which was boiling with the heat from the sun. In less than five minutes my eggs were cooked hard. This story may seem incredible, but it is true."

"A child of mine," said Joseph Kendall, "suffered a severe affliction in the eyes a few years ago, and they are yet weak. I came to the conclusion that it was the result wholly of having the child's eyes exposed to the sharp rays of the sun. Every day you can see the servants wheeling babies around in little carriages, with the little one's eyes fully exposed to the sun. I believe that is the cause of so many young children having to wear eye-glasses. The oculists are now paying some attention to the matter."

OUR BOYS AND GIRLS.

My boya and girls are glad, I am sure, that the lovely Maytime is here, although here in California it does not bring the change that it does in New England. There, you know, during the long winter the ground is covered with snow, and the earth is hidden away beneath its white covering, and not a green thing is in sight. I remember how diligently I used to member how diligently I used to watch for the first green blade of grass which thrust itself up through the brown earth. I could almost hear it saying, "Don't you see me, and aren't you glad, now that I am here?"

Perhaps a rain would come—a warm, beautiful April shower—and the pattering drops would fall on the white snow, and after awhile just little small patches of bare earth could be seen here and there. And after the shower out would come the bright sun, and the sky would grow beautifully blue, and all the naked trees would grow warm in the sunshine. How I used to hunt for the crocuses—the first flowers that came to us in spring, as if they were its first smile. Then in the warm sunshine the snow would gradually melt, and the black patches of earth became larger from day to day, until all the ground was bare. After this it was not long till the grasses showed themselves, and the "pussy willows," with their pretty gray coats, so soft and furzy, were out upon all the swaying willow boughs. Day by day it would grow warmer, as the sun climbed higher and higher, and some glorious morning in this lovely spring weather I would waken to hear the twitter of birds, and pretty soon a full-threated bird song would fill the air, and perhaps a robin redbreast would be seen in the tree, happy as ever a bird could be.

And these New England robins are the sweetest singers of the wood, and I was always happy to see them come back to us from the sunny south after our long, cold win'er was over.

I must tell you a legend which I read somewhere a long time ago about this bird. It was something like this:

A long time ago, when the world was young, a soul was lost in purgatory. It was shut out from the pure and beautiful light of heaven, and was in the midst of burning flame. Thirsting and suffering it longed for water to quench its awful thirst. A robin winging its way through the air heard its cries, and its tender breast was stirred with pity, and it spread its wings, and with swiftest flight it sought the deeps of a storm seemed to lead all of the others, and he never grew tired.

And when the warm midsummer came those eastern fields and meadows were all alight with firefiles. You would think a million of stars were atwinkle in the grasses. I have caught those little "lightning bugs," as we called them, and held them in my hands, and I found that whenever they lifted their wings the light shone out from beneath them, so softly luminous in its golden glow it looked like a bit of real flame. I should love to go back to New England just long enough to hear the first spring robin sing and see the fireflies star the summer meadows. That would be as long as I should be content to stay away from California.

Some of my dear little friends have remembered me this week, and I thank them very much for their letters. Here is one from my dear little friend who lives in San Bernardino:

San Bernardino:

Mrs. Orrs—Dear Friend: I know 1 am going to write today. I have been so lazy and having so good a time. I called to see you, too, and you was away. I was so disappointed. Oh how hot it was, too. But I will come again. I have been to see my dear old lady friend, Mrs. Glover, in Pasadena, and how sweet she is! And I call her grandma and her husband grandpa, and that is so nice, and they are nicer than anybody I know. And then they have a son, but he is a big man. Just the same, Uncle George and I had a gay time. He caught me a knomed toad, and I was so glad and had such a fine time of it. But one day I was out training my class of chickens, and Mr. Toad took a walk, and I felt so sad. Mamma and I huuted all over the yard for him, but I guess he just run when he did get away. Mamma says that he was lonely or had a wife that he wanted to go back to. What an idea—a toad with a wife! Any way, he is gone. Poor toad, I do hope he won't get caupht and killed. Uncle George has a cute horse. She can untie herself and run away and go to pasture. Then Uncle George soes after her, and sometimes it is so hot I should think he would get mad, but he only laughs, and says. "Bess is goin' to be better." And, oh my, they say she kicks. I did not see her kick. The trioycle, what a fine there, and the flowers, the beautiful views from the home, Hermosa Vista, it is called. Ain't that a pretty name? I can't tell you how lovely the place is. There are many things about it I shall never forget. Grandma talks of her flowers as if they were her children, and knows them all so well, and grandpa has one which is his favorite, Black Prince, a beautiful world to live in anyway?

But Indicate palmet of common traid, and her while he heave the children, and knows them all so eithile device. I shall never forget. Grandma talks of her flowers as if they were ther children, and knows them all so eithile the hea

CALIFORNIA VS. FLORIDA. The Exhibits on Wheels of the Two States Compared.

A correspondent of the Eustice (Fla.) Semi-Tropic thus writes from a town in the State of New York: a town in the State of New York:

"The two special cars sent out by the State Board of Trade of California, and which were as Albion yesterday, drew a large number of visitors; and it was well worth the time spent in viewing the wonderful products of that State. There was also a Florida car of exhibits at the station at the same time, where could be seen the growths peculiar to that country. Among the exhibits was a specimen of silver king fish six feet ask inches in length and weighing 145 pounds.

"The following description of these rolling exhibitions is given by one who visited these cars while they were at Rochester, N. Y. The writer is well acquainted with the various sections of Florida and their resources, and capabilities of making a creditable exhibit, but was unpleasantly forced to see the Florida exhibit completely overshadowed by California, which State is evidently making capital out of the depleted and worn-out exhibits presented by Florida on Wheels.' Here is what the writer says:

"Last Thursday we all went down

Wheels.' Here is what the writer says:

"Last Thursday we all went down to the depot to visit the California and Florida cars which are traveling through on our road, stopping at all large places to exhibit. California had two cars, one filled with its productions and the other occupied by four gentlemen and their wives, and were gotten up in fine style. They have everything, I guess, that the State produces; and exquisite taste is displayed in its arrangement, in the about two-tinus run, a care a run potatoes about the size of a small apple, two small pieces of pine wood about 12x15 inches, one stuffed paroquette, one stuffed alligator about five feet, and two smaller ones, a piece of moss about the size of your arm, a little palmetto basket made of common braid, and a small piece beside it; a poor piece of coquina, an alligator skull with a few teeth in it, a beautiful piece of sponge, and a fair show of tobacco, and a large fish skin. Of course this was not all, but we could think of any amount of things which they could have had, but which they had not, and that which they did have was of poor quality, and no taste whatever displayed. We could have have was of poor quality, and no taste whatever displayed. We could have furnished better specimens of many things. On the sides of the car were photographs of St. Augustine, De Land and several other towns, and also of several big men and editors of the State.

also of several big men and editors of the State.

""We were disgusted, and so was every one. No one in the car but this darky, and he said this car didn't begin with California."

"I think it is injuring the State every mile it travels, and 'will it ever be any bettem' is a serious question. But I believe all it needs is money to advertise the State, and if the railroads would do half as much for Florida as they do for California, in the way of excursions, cheap passenger rates and prompt carriage of products, the natural advantages of the State would boom it very shortly. But will they?"

G. G. Green—Dran Sir: 1 am frequently troubled with severe colds, and the only remedy that will relieve me of them is your Boschee's German Syrup. I have used it for more than twelve years. It is a constant household companion with me. Our merchant sere procured it first as my solicitation, and says he has sold a great many bottles. It is a very popular remedy in this section. Every person who has used it speaks in the highest terms of its merits. I do not know of a single case it has not cured. I first used it is Vermout, where I lived before coming here. I advise every one to use it, as it is certainly the best cough medicine I have ever known. I have tried dearly all of them at different times. Yours respectfully, Moeks Gray.

CILIER'S Newspaper Syndicate Expedition Starts from New Orleans—Another Outline of a Journey Which Promises Rich Returns to Science and Commerce.

[New Orleans Picayune, May 1.]

A. J. Miller, Esq., of Evansville, and, registered Monday at the St. tharles Hotel. He is the editor of the bad waters of the premise important things to both science and commerce. If unsuccessful in reaching the head waters of the Wanks, the exploring party at least expect some important results in ornithological and zoological studies, if not important contributions to the theories of the origin of the American races, as the secrets of this region so long guarded. [New Orleans Picayune, May 1.]

A. J. Miller, Esq., of Evansville,
Ind., registered Monday at the St. Charles Hotel. He is the editor of the Evansville Evening Tribune and manager of a scientific exploring expedition to Central America, devised by him and backed by a syndicate of American newspapers. He is a handsome fellow, hale and hearty, and a this stream, if not at its headwaters, the expedition will proceed into Nicas

American newspapers. He is a ladure some fellow, hale and hearty, and a most delightful talker. A representative of the Picayune visited him in his room, and interviewed him as to details of the proposed expedition.

The plans for the expedition were first inaugurated last December, and the syndicate backing it embraces such papers as the Louisville Courier-Journal, New York Sun, Philadelpha Ledger, St. Louis Republic and Los ANGELES TIMES. The character and prominence of these great journals is a guarantee that all necessary impetus will be given to the enterprise to insure its success.

The expedition will consist of Mr. Miller as manager, Prof. Thomas Darragh, naturalist and taxidermist, and Prof. J. Roy Brown, geologist and antiquarian, now in the city. They will be joined at Belize, British Honduras, by Thomas H. Ross, who precedes the expedition to make certain preliminary variangements.

Though the expedition will proceed into Nica-ragua, going down the full length of Lakes Managua and Nicaragua, to the projected canal. From the interest awakened in this project, Mr. Miller's expedition will devote considerable time te gathering numerous facts regarding this immediate locality, the country through which it will run, and the people who are to share its destiny. Another advantage to be derived from this expedition is in the promotion of the sentiment in favor of the congress of American nations projected trans. Though the expedition starts out with the purpose of general exploration and observation, one of its primary objects is to visit those pertions of the five republics which are comparatively or totally unknown to the outside world. Strange as it may seem, there are many sections of this country almost at the very door of the great Republic as compretely unknown as the mysterious interior of Africa. There are tribes inhabiting the Mosquito Coast of which only a traditional or legendary knowledge is had. To penetrate this country and bring forth its secrets is therefore the firm resolution of the present expedition. The chief-avenue for accomplishing this result is the Rio Wanks, one of the largest Central American streams, which stively or totally unknown to the outside world. The first objective point of the expedition is Livingston, Guatemala, where they will disembark for a journey of 300 miles to Lake Peten, around which are numerous evidences of an ancient civilization, which antiquarians like Stephens, Brasseur de Bourbourg and Charnsy have attributed to Mayas, so long regarded as the progenitors of the American races. According to the Ah Tza (Sacred Book) of the Quiches, the present inhabitants of this region are the descendants of the once powerful Mayas. tions the truth of this assertion. But when we eat to live we should not eat blindly whatever we may fancy without any regard to the preparation of our food, or the requirements of our systems.

How marvelous is the mechanism of these bodies of ours! What infinite skill is evidenced in their fashioning! There is no blind chance anywhere about them. Every thing is in harmony. Every organ is perfect in itself, yet each is dependent upon the others. Destroy any one and you take just so much from the perfection of the whole Let the liver be inactive and head and Let the liver be inactive and head and heart and lungs as well as all the digestive apparatus will cry out in suffering protest. Let the stomach become disordered, and how the beauty of life is dimmed. gine under too high a steam pressure; the children are not tenderly dealt with when they commit mischief through the mere effervescence of overflowing life and activity, and everything with which you have to do is unhinged and serves to annoy you.

We do not take the care that we ought to of our bodies; we do not study their needs nor provide for their necessities in an intelligent manner.

I am rejoiced that the time has come when we have teachers in physical culture; when we have cooking classes when we have teachers in physical culture; when we have cooking classes in connection with our public schools; when our leading magazines discuss with a large practical intelligence the subject of diet and the best methods of preparing food; when the way is made popular for our daughters to become good cooks, and to regard the culinary art as a science which should be carefully studied.

The twentieth century girl will be a fair and lovely creature, with brilliant complexion, rounded form and well developed muscles. She will have a perfectly healthy digestive system, and rational knowledge as to what food she should eat and how it should be repeared.

rational knowledge as to what food she should eat and how it should be prepared.

And this knowledge might be greatly advanced in our day if mothers were only willing to instruct their daughters in culinary art. Make your kitchens pleasant to them. Let them, where they can be so arranged, be large light and cheerful rooms, brightened by the sunlight, curtained by blossoming vines, where birds twitter and build their nests, and where the rangrance of the morning is sweetened by the breath of flowers. Let the floor be painted, or else be covered with pretty-patterned linoleum, and have all the utensils needed supplied and conveniently placed. Then, no matter how many servint you have, or how dainty are your fingers, go into your kitchen and take your daughters with you, and study your cook-book, and put to a practical test the knowledge which you find its pages.

But our lesse'n for today is long enough. For that hour or two is the kitchen in the morning with "mother" the daughters will find the afternoon all the more pleasaut, and they will enter into its pleasures with added zest. And this pleasant companionship between mother and daughters will tend to draw them into more endearing relationship and affectionate sympathy.
